

Mount Rainier National Park needs YOUR input!

The National Park Service is seeking public input to better understand issues and opportunities for visitor travel and recreation along the road from Nisqually Entrance (Ashford) to Paradise. The plan is in the early stages of development, and the National Park Service needs your help identifying key issues and potential management strategies.

How to get involved: Visit parkplanning.nps.gov/NisquallyCorridor between August 10th, 2020, and October 5th, 2020, to submit your input!

Flip card over to see key issues addressed by this plan and more information on how to provide your input!

Key issues addressed by this plan include:

- Quality of the visitor's experience from arriving to leaving the park
- Traffic congestion leading up to the park entrances and on the Nisqually and Paradise Roads
- Congestion in parking lots
- Quality of the experience at visitor facilities,
- scenic viewpoints, and along trails
- Damage to subalpine meadows, streamside vegetation, and other natural resources
- Protection of culturally significant transportation assets like roads, trails, and bridges

More information, including the timeline for the Nisqually Corridor Management Plan, can be found at parkplanning.nps.gov/NisquallyCorridor

