

Olympic National Park Proposed Fee Increase

Let Us Know What You Think!

National parks across the country, including Olympic, are considering increases to entrance and user fees to take effect as early as 2015. Fees provide important funding for national parks; 80% of fees collected at Olympic stay at Olympic where they improve visitor facilities and services. The remaining 20% funds projects in national parks that do not collect fees.

Visitors enjoy a maintained nature trail in Hoh Rain Forest.

- Fees at Olympic last increased in 2006.
- There is a continuing and growing need for funds to improve facilities, infrastructure and visitor services.
- New revenue from increased fees will provide enhanced visitor services through repair and maintenance of facilities, capital improvements, enhanced amenities, resource protection and additional visitor programs and services.
